

ACADEMIC SERVICES, LIBRARIES AND LEARNING CENTERS

Information Technology Services

UAS has long been a leader in the innovative use of technology in education. Students are encouraged to learn to smartly use advanced technology effectively in all classes and all degree programs.

Technology Highlights

UAS has high-speed wireless access to all campus buildings. The Juneau campus has mobile computer labs available for delivery to most classrooms upon request from faculty. Printing is available to students at the Egan Library. Students can use personal laptops anywhere on all campuses, access campus services, or surf the web. Many classrooms and conference rooms are equipped with audio-visual equipment for web conferencing or other creative applications. A fully equipped Media Screening Room is located in the Egan Library room 104, and may be scheduled through UAS Room Scheduling.

Student Work Positions

IT Services provides many paid positions for students. Students in Juneau can earn money while receiving on-the-job training in IT with Network & Desktop Support, Helpdesk Support, and Classroom Technology. This includes everyday assistance, troubleshooting, regular meetings, live events, video streaming, and more.

UAS Course Content

Students on all campuses can access course materials, submit homework, and engage with other students. A class homepage is automatically created for every UAS course. Access to course content is available from the main UAS website (uas.alaska.edu (<http://uas.alaska.edu/>)) using the ribbon at the top of the page, directly in Blackboard (classes.alaska.edu (<http://classes.alaska.edu/>)), or through the UAS portal at UASOnline (uas.alaska.edu/online (<http://uas.alaska.edu/online/>)). Students can also create additional webpages for academic work and personal expression. More tools such as blogs, personal portfolios, and more are available for the UAS community through UASOnline (uas.alaska.edu/online (<https://online.uas.alaska.edu/>)).

E-mail and Software

Every student automatically receives an individual UA Google account, accessible while actively enrolled in the University. This includes Gmail, Google Drive, and other online productivity tools. Additionally, every student can access their UA license for Microsoft Office 365.

UAOnline

Why wait in line? Students can register and pay for classes, check grades or transcripts, set up direct deposit, and access tax information online at any time at UAOnline (uaonline.alaska.edu (<https://www.alaska.edu/uaonline/>)). This also includes access to DegreeWorks, class schedules, update personal information, and much more.

Help is on the way

Our technology Helpdesk can provide assistance in-person, through email, or over the telephone. Students can call 907-796-6400 or 877-465-6400 (toll-free) or visit uas.alaska.edu/helpdesk/ for hours and support.

Libraries

William A. Egan Library (Juneau)

The William A. Egan Library supports scholarship, research, and creative activities at the University of Alaska Southeast by providing relevant, diverse, and well-maintained collections, by helping individuals evaluate and efficiently use those resources, and by creating a welcoming environment for all.

Facility: Egan Library is an architecturally impressive campus hub that houses the collections, Learning Center, Writing Center, the Center for Excellence in Learning and Teaching (CELT), and a significant collection of Northwest Coast Native Art (<https://uas.alaska.edu/library/docs/Northwest-Coast-Native-Art-Guide.pdf>).

The Egan Library provides and facilitates the use of technologies such as digital collections, laptop computers, scanners, and printers, to support study and research. The facility includes both individual and group study spaces in addition to conference rooms, many of which are equipped with technology that assists students in developing media presentations and engaging in e-Learning activities.

General Collections: Egan Library's current collection includes 136,000 physical titles and over 500,000 ebooks. The library maintains a small number of print journal subscriptions including Alaska-specific journals, magazines, and newspapers. We rely on 123 databases and open access journals to provide online full-text access to over 115,000 ejournals and other electronic resources, including streaming videos. OneSearch (<https://research.ebsco.com/c/77a4d6/search/advanced/>) allows simultaneous searching of the library catalog and most of the databases. The UAS community has access to local and regional resources via the Alaska Library Catalog (https://anch.ent.sirsi.net/client/en_US/uas/) (ALC) and to global resources through OCLC WorldCat (a catalog of national and international library holdings).

Course Reserves: Textbooks for many courses are available in the library course reserves for 3 hour checkout periods. These items have been donated to the library, purchased through supported initiatives of UAS, or represent materials that were already in the library collection (novels, etc). Additionally, there are library subscribed ebooks used as course books. Egan Library faculty and staff are involved in ZTC, OER, and other efforts to reduce textbook costs for students, and it is a good practice to check the library catalog to see if required course materials are available. Search the library's available reserves in the library catalog (https://anch.ent.sirsi.net/client/en_US/uas/).

Alaska Library Catalog: The Library seeks out and facilitates cooperative relationships locally, regionally, and statewide to build its collections and to provide additional services. The Library shares an online catalog and circulation system with the Alaska Library Catalog (ALC) consortium that includes the University of Alaska Anchorage, University of Alaska Fairbanks, the UAA and UAF community campuses, UAS Ketchikan Campus Library, and Tuzzy Consortium Library at Iñisaġvik College; it also includes the Juneau, Anchorage, Fairbanks, Mat-Su, Sitka, and other Public Libraries; and special libraries like the Alaska State Library, ARLIS, and the Anchorage Museum. UAS students, faculty, and staff, as well as members of the community, may borrow materials from all of these libraries. A daily courier delivers requested materials from within Juneau, and other materials are sent in the mail for pickup at the library. The Sealaska Heritage Institute is an ALC participant; their collection does not circulate but their holdings appear in the catalog and all are welcome to visit the library and use materials there. As a federal depository library, Egan Library provides access to a broad range of U.S. Government documents both in print and online. The library catalog and online resources are available from the Library web site at: uas.alaska.edu/library (<https://uas.alaska.edu/library/>).

ScholarWorks@UA: Egan Library facilitates and supports scholarly communication/research on campus through contributions to ScholarWorks@UA, the University of Alaska's institutional repository created to preserve and share our research outputs and institutional materials. In this open access collection you'll discover a growing number of papers, publications, archival collections, dissertations, theses, and more!

Special Collections: The Cyril George Indigenous Knowledge Collection is named after Kaalkáawu Cyril George, a Tlingit leader from the Deisheetaan Clan of Angoon, and partially funded by a Rasmuson Foundation grant. The Cyril George Collection (<https://uas.alaska.libguides.com/CyrilGeorge/>) honors Indigenous voices and Alaska Native Knowledge in a collection of over 4,500 volumes on the main floor of Egan Library. The Katy Spangler Children's Alaskan Collection includes Alaska-related books for children and young adults. Much of the collection has been donated by Alaska College of Education Professor Emerita Katy Spangler.

Services and Instruction: Library faculty and staff ensure that the UAS community has access to materials not available locally. An efficient interlibrary loan service brings materials from other domestic and foreign libraries in either electronic or print formats. The Library offers personalized reference services during all hours the Library is open and responds to phone, chat, and e-mail inquiries, as well as scheduled one-on-one research consultations. In addition, library faculty offer e-Learning and face-to-face instruction in information literacy to individuals and classes to develop critical thinking skills and independent learning. Faculty librarians also teach for-credit classes in information literacy and library research skills. The library hosts a variety of events sponsored by UAS departments as well as by Juneau community organizations. From literary readings and lectures to symphony concerts, the Egan Library serves as a cultural venue for the campus and greater Juneau community. These activities are typically scheduled outside of open library hours to prevent disruption to student learning.

The public is always invited.

The Ketchikan Campus Library provides faculty, students, and community members with access to the Internet and electronic resources to which UAS subscribes, nearly all of which are accessible to students and faculty from off-campus. The Campus Library's web site may be found at <http://www.ketch.alaska.edu/library/>. The staff of the Campus Library offers information literacy instruction to its students, delivered both individually and to full classes, face to face, on Blackboard Collaborate and by email, phone, and chat.
